The book is organized in seven Parts that map the journey from “should I do this?” through setup, day-to-day operation, and long-term monitoring.

The Parts are cumulative

— each assumes you’ve done the work of the ones before it.

PART I—GETTING ORIENTED

What this is, whether it's for you, and what the journey looks like.

PART II—FOUNDATIONS

What must be true before you start, and how the algorithm actually works.

PART III—CORE SETUP

The multi-week project at the heart of the book – widening safety limits, installing the new guardrails, and tuning ISF weights to your meals.

PART IV—DAY-TO-DAY OPERATIONS

Nudging the loop when it needs nudging – snacks, exercise, sick days, and everything else that isn't a normal meal.

PART V—ALTERNATIVE MODES

*Gentler, simpler paths when full autoISF FCL isn't the right fit
Hybrid with Meal Announcement
FCL via AAPS Automations, and the broader landscape.*

PART VI—MONITORING & TROUBLESHOOTING

Keeping the loop healthy once it's running, and fixing it when something goes wrong.

PART VII—TOOLS

Optional but powerful: the Emulator for replaying and analyzing your loop's decisions.
